You know how it feels when you have planned a perfect lesson but your students' minds wander away and you can't get them back! Teaching your dog a few cues in English and bringing him to class for students to interact with can work wonders for student enthusiasm and motivation. We will explore what your 'man's best friend' can do for you.

With the help of an expert in canine behaviour, we will have hands on experience with real dogs to learn how to read dogs' body language to understand their thoughts and behavior. Then we will discuss whether any of these points can be applicable to our students' enthusiasm and motivation and our own classroom practice.
